March, 2011

Dear Legislator;

We write to you to ask you to support Bill A1008/S323 precluding the use of condoms as evidence of prostitution. If enacted, this bill would protect the right of many of our most marginalized community-members to practice safer sex without fear that carrying condoms will have the consequence of an arrest or conviction of prostitution.

We are concerned with the public health of New York residents. As organizations concerned with the public health, our services and activities include the provision of condoms and harm reduction information to vulnerable New Yorkers, testing for sexually transmitted infections (STIs) and HIV/AIDS, providing necessary legal, social and medical services to people living with HIV/AIDS, and activism and advocacy around public health and HIV/AIDS. Some of the individuals we work with are involved in the sex trade, whether by choice, circumstance, or coercion. Many of our clients and members tell us that they have had condoms confiscated from them by police, either as a form of harassment or in the course of arrests for prostitution related offenses. Many of our clients and members are already marginalized on the basis of race, class, gender, immigration status, or involvement in sex work, and believe that it is a crime to carry a certain number of condoms, based on this common police practice. Transgender women in particular are afraid to carry condoms, as they are frequently profiled and arrested for prostitution even if they are not engaging in sex work.

By allowing the possession of condoms to be used as evidence of prostitution and related offenses, the current law undermines New York’s efforts to combat sexually transmitted infections and diseases and to educate the public about safer sex. Since 1971, the City of New York has distributed free condoms in order to combat STIs. New York City bolstered these efforts in 2007 when it began the NYC Condom campaign, which dramatically increased free condom distribution and awareness throughout its five boroughs. These efforts, in conjunction with the efforts of non-governmental harm reduction and public health organizations like ours, have been effective in educating and protecting the public.

Even as New York City increases its efforts to encourage safer sex practices, those involved in the sex trade and those exposed to police harassment have become increasingly afraid of carrying condoms because they fear the legal consequences of doing so. This is exemplified by the statements of one transgender woman, who said “I like to do outreach for my girlfriends, so that’s why I carry extra [condoms]. It’s just that carrying nine to the club, I’m worried that the cops think that I’m prostituting…I don’t think they are going to believe me but I like to help people out.” We believe our state government should promote, not discourage, the use of condoms and other public health tools. As an effective tool for preventing unwanted pregnancy and the transmission of STIs and HIV, condoms should be widely accessible and acceptable to everyone. Carrying condoms should never be attached to a presumption that the carrier is intending to commit a crime.

This legislation is important to protect safer sex choices in general, and to prevent those in the sex trade in particular from being penalized for being prepared to use protection against STIs, pregnancy and HIV. For these reasons we request your support of this legislation.

Respectfully,

Signatory Organizations:

Housing Works
Albany, NY
Carmelita Cruz, (347) 949-1979

NARAL Pro-Choice – New York
New York, NY
Sabrina Shulman, (646) 520-3513

FROST’D - Harlem United Community AIDS Center
New York, NY
Stephen Crowe, (212) 924-3733 ext. 259

New York Planned Parenthood
New York, NY
Caroline Mello, (212) 274-7288

Urban Justice Center
New York, NY
Sienna Baskin, (646) 602-5695

New York Harm Reduction Educators
New York, NY
Emily Metzner, (718) 842-6050 ext. 135

Sex Workers Outreach Project
Detroit, MI
Elizabeth Nanas, M.Ed., (313) 421-5665

Positive Health Project
New York, NY
Amu Ptah, (212) 465-8304 ext. 107

Desiree Alliance
National
Cristine Sardina, (520) 294-6835

Drug Policy Alliance
New York, NY
Gabriel Sayegh, (212) 613.8048

Callen-Lorde Community Health Center
New York, NY
Anthony Szcurek, (212) 271-7250

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual & Transgender Community Center
New York, NY
Carrie Davis, MSW, (646) 556-9290

Public Health Associations of New York City
New York, NY